EXHIBITION OF ANTIQUE FABERGÉ JEWELLERY IN GENEVA

Fabergé, the artist jeweller, will be exhibiting a collection of antique Fabergé jewels at its Geneva boutique, 5 rue Pierre-Fatio, from 1st to 18th October 2013.

The exhibition will showcase 59 exceptional pieces that were conceived and crafted before 1917 by Peter Carl Fabergé and his workmasters. Highlights of the exhibition include an exquisite sapphire and diamond pendant, a stunning square emerald and diamond brooch and a generous amethyst brooch set within a border of gold laurel leaves.

These exceptional pieces showcase the ingenuity and artistry of the House of Fabergé in the late 19th and early 20th centuries, which in turn inspire the blend of heritage and modernity in today's contemporary collections.

Today, Fabergé perfects the art of colour with modern designs and extraordinary gemstones, perpetuating its legacy of craftsmanship, artistry and innovation. The collections are available at Fabergé boutiques in New York, London, Geneva and Kiev, as well as at other exclusive international retailers. Selected items are also available via Fabergé's online boutique at Faberge.com.
